TODAY HOTTEST DAY IN YEARS; OVER HUNDRED

Thermometer Keeps Steady Climb Up to 2:25 This Afternoon Then Begins Decline

HOTTEST DAY LAST YEAR WAS ONLY 97

Cooler Weather Promised for Tomorrow—Firm Breeze Prevents Much Suffering

Today is the hottest of the year. It is hotter than any day last year. At 2:25 this afternoon the thermometer registered 100.4, the highest point for more than two years. Last year the hottest day was Aug. 16, when the thermometer went up to 97. The hottest day in July last year was 96, on the 28th.

July 15, 1910, is the only date in seven years that has exceeded today. On that day it was 107 degrees. The 14th of the same month and year was another hot day, 104 degrees.

Yesterday the highest point reached was 95. It was 97 on Tuesday of this week, the hottest day this summer, except today. The readings hourly for today up to 3 o'clock this afternoon follow:

7:00 a. m.	74
8:00 a. m.	78
9:00 a. m.	81
10:00 a. m.	84
11:00 a. m.	88
12:00 noon	92
1:00 p. m.	98
2:00 p. m.	99
2:25 p. m.	100.4
3:00 p. m.	95

The temperature is rapidly dropping and Meteorogolist Roberts promises cooler weather for tonight and tomorrow. The prevailing winds, he says, are not hot winds, but local winds. Hot winds are not local winds; they are general.

The tar on the pavements in many spots was almost in a liquid state at 2:30 this afternoon. Animals suffered from the heat and the throng of people in town for the circus sought shady spots in the breeze. The wind, perhaps, saved much suffering. No casualties were reported up to a late hour this afternoon.

GERMANY'S IRE AROUSED OVER CRAFT SEIZURE

Copenhagen, July 21.—The British seizure of German ships was denounced as brutal assaults on defenseless merchantmen and a profligate act, by Dr. Kriege, director of the judicial department of the German office, in replying to a question in the reichstag. Dr. Kriege added that Germany had urged Holland to demand an apology for this unheard of violation in Dutch waters and precise assurance that it would not reoccur.

Dr. Kriege said Germany was entitled to, and would expect immediate restoration of the captured ships and compensation for the cargoes sunk, and also for the wounded seamen and their dependents. Holland, he said, had already expressed regret at the occurrence and declared it would demand the fullest satisfaction. Holland further promised that the Dutch fleet would do its utmost to prevent a repetition and, replying to the German representations, it was said to employ the utmost energy to obtain the satisfaction of the German demand. The German government, Dr Kriege said, was confident Holland would act accordingly.

AMERICAN CONSUL IS ARRESTED AT ODESSA

Amsterdam, July 21.—The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin hears that the American consul of Odessa, John A. Ray, has been imprisoned, with his British colleague, by soldiers for having spoken unfavorably of the revolution. The soldiers, the newspaper says, refuse to liberate him.

ELEVATION OF KERENSKY AS PREMIER MAKES HIM VIRTUALLY DICTATOR OF NEW REGIME

(By Associated Press.)

Although Russia has been struck a severe blow on the northern Galician front by the mutiny of fragments of her troops, the forces appeared to be getting a firmer grip on the fountain head of the difficulty in Petrograd.

The disorderly element in the capital having been subdued, the nation's strongest man, Kerensky, has been made premier as well as minister of war and marine. Obviously this represents a notable centralization of power in one man, but it seems to be confident that centralization, even if it be suggestive of a virtual dictatorship is necessary, if the vast forces of the nation are to be co-ordinated for efficient reconstitution of the government and effective participation in the war.

While chief military interest centered on the battlefield of the east, where the Russians are having to contend with disaffection in their ranks as well as with the Germans and munitions, there is sufficient action in progress on the western front to command close attention.

The German crown prince received a severe beating in his recent attacks along a wide front in the Aisne region, but nevertheless he is sacrificing more of his men in renewed efforts to shake the French lines. There was violent fighting last night south of Cerny on this front, but although the French positions were twice penetrated, the end of the fighting showed them to have remained intact in French hands. A British attack on the northern end of the Belgian-Franco front with the intensity of the big gunfire of late, seems to indicate as impending, but has not yet been delivered. Raids on an extensive scale are being continued by General Haig's troops, however, and last night they penetrated German positions on a wide front in the vicinity of La Basse and Armentieres.

URGE MEN TO OBSERVE RULES FOR HEALTH

CONDITION OF TROOPS REPORTED EXCELLENT

(By Associated Press.)

American Training Camp in France, July 21.—The chief medical officer of the American expeditionary forces yesterday made a round of the companies in camp nearest headquarters and gave each troop section a brief talk on general health conditions. He explained the danger that confronts all armies and urged the men to take precaution available for each individual soldier. The troops responded finely to his patriotic appeal to keep in good physical condition for the reputation of the American arms and promised faithfully not to drink unfiltered water and observe other health precautions.

Conditions Excellent.

Medical records thus far make it appear that the appeal had been anticipated by the majority of the men for health conditions are excellent. What little sickness prevails is limited, almost exclusively to a few cases of measles, and mumps contracted before leaving the United States. Every soldier has been vaccinated against typhoid and in addition each troop section is equipped for filtering every drop of water. Likewise, every man under 45 years has been vaccinated against smallpox and will be similarly protected against cholera, should it make its appearance.

The American army has just completed taking over the French base hospital near here, which will be opened in a few days with the John Hopkins unit comprising 30 physicians and surgeons, including a noted number of specialists, 250 attendants and 103 American nurses.

The hospital has a capacity of a thousand beds and will be used for the American forces.

TO VISIT FRONT.

Paris, July 21.—Major General Pershing, the American commander, with two staff officers, left Paris yesterday, on his first visit to the British front The American officer will be the guest of Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander-in-chief, returning to the capital Sunday The general will make a long tour of the British lines, studying the methods used by the British along the front, with a view to the adoption of these methods by the Americans.

DANIELS PRESENTS NAVY WAR BUDGET

Washington, July 21.—Secretary Daniels today submitted estimates to the house aggregating $137,366,177, for war needs of the navy including ammunition, ordnance supplies, improvements of yards and docks, clothing and enlargement of the navy yard and gun factory here

NO END TO WAR UNTIL GERMANY IS CONQUERED

Lloyd George Says England Will Not Cease Struggle for Liberty Now

TEUTONS DESIRE TERRITORY AND MILITARY AUTOCRACY

Michaelis Fails to Make Favorable Impression in His First Address

London, July 21.—Premier Lloyd George said today that the speech in the reichstag of Dr. Michaelis, the new German chancellor, meant that if Germany were victorious there would be annexations all around and that the military autocracy would be established more firmly than ever, the present speech showed. The premier asserted that those in charge of affairs in Germany had for the moment made the choice for war.

Don't Harbor Delusion.

"I don't wish Germany to harbor any delusion," Mr. Lloyd George continued, "that Great Britain will be put out of the fight until full liberty has been established. I predict that it will not be long before the German chancellor delivers a different speech and that is the one for which we are waiting."

Mr. Lloyd George said the food supply for the 1917-1918 period had already been secured, and that a program of cultivation had been arranged to make the supply the following year secure, even if losses increased.

GERMANS DISAPPOINTED.

Berlin, July 21.—Yesterday's speech by Dr. Michaelis, imperial chancellor, before the reichstag, is interpreted as an indication that he is for the present steering a middle of the road course.

The speech may be said hardly to have aroused pronounced enthusiasm. The new chancellor does not present the heroic figure that Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg did Furthermore, he did not reveal himself as an equally impressive speaker.

ADJOURNS UNTIL SEPT. 26.

Copenhagen, July 21.—The reichstag adjourned yesterday until September 26, says a dispatch from Berlin.

NEW INSURANCE COMPANY FORMED

J B. Halloran, former deputy Burleigh county auditor, has purchased the interests of E. K. Ellensworth in the Byrne-Ellensworth Insurance agency here and will take active interest in the business. The new firm name will be J. B Halloran & Co., P. E. Byrne retaining his association with the business

Halloran was deputy auditor for two years and is a young business man of ability The new firm will handle every line of insurance. It is believed Ellensworth will succeed Halloran as deputy auditor, but no decision has been reached as yet.

SENATE FIXES $2.00 AS MINIMUM PRICE OF WHEAT

Washington July 21.—The senate today adopted the food bill amendment authorizing the government to spend ten million dollars for fertilizer to sell at cost.

Washington, July 21.—The senate today went on record by a vote of 46 to 33 in favor of congress fixing a minimum guarantee of price of not less than $2 per bushel for wheat, readjusting an amendment by Senator Norris of Nebraska, to strike out a $2 price proposal and to leave the price fixing to the food administration only.

Today, the debate began on the bipartisan leader compromise, substitute for the wheat price fixing section Senator Chamberlain sponsored a substitute authorizing the food board to establish a minimum guaranteed price of not less than $2 per bushel, based on No 1 Northern at the principal primary markets until January 1, 1919 Senator Gronna offered as a substitute for mandatory action fixing the price at not less than $2

CANADA FIXES WHEAT AT $2.40

Toronto, Ont., July 21.—The board of grain supervisors for Canada have ruled that dating from Aug 1 next, the maximum price of wheat, basis No 1 northern in store in Ft William, will not exceed $2 40 This holds until further notice and applies to the balance of the crop The supervisors had been in session here.

DRAFT PLAYS QUEER PRANKS IN THE STATE

Several Brothers Taken Out of Some Families—Whole Communities Skipped

BISMARCK BUSINESS HOUSES HARD PRESSED

First National Bank and Tribune Eaach Lose Three—Fisk Manager Drawn

All men who are drawn in the selective draft cannot be accepted for voluntary service in the national guard, the war department announced today.

The draft played some queer pranks in North Dakota yesterday. In numerous instances brothers whose numbers ran in sequence were drafted on numbers drawn at wide intervals. Certain business establishments in Bismarck particularly, seem to have been singled out by the diety which presided over the lottery for the depletion of their working forces. Three Tribune men were drawn: George Wahler, head of the newspaper bookkeeping department; R. C Corwin, foreman of the news composing room, and Otto Ayers, on the mechanical staff of the job department. Wahler and Ayres are single men, while Mr. Corwin is married and has a family.

First National Hit.

The First National bank yesterday saw three of its men drafted, and it already had lost two by enlistment. Those drawn yesterday are D A. Baskerville, Frank A. Johnson and Arthur Aaby. George Little and Glenn Peck of the First National force already had enlisted.

One of the names called early was that of Edward R. Proechel, manager of the Bismarck factory branch of the Fisk Rubber company. It was reported yesterday that salesmen of the local branch also had been drafted, but Manager Proechel states that their numbers were not drawn yesterday.

Business Men Taken.

Among well known business men whose numbers were drawn yesterday are Harry J. Woodmansee, the stationer; George V. Bowers, salesman for the Missouri Valley Motor Co.; Frank H. Geiermann of Brown & Geiermann; Frederick H. O. Friese, associated with his father in the Fourth street tailoring establishment; Paul Willman, transfer man; Charles Pappas, one of the proprietors of the Broadway shoe shining parlors; D. Ferris Cordner of the postoffice staff, who already has his commission as second lieutenant in Co. I; and A. J. Pelowski, former manager of the Bismarck office of the North Dakota Independent Telephone Co and now district accountant for that company, which recently gave its district manager, F. L. Shuman, to the service.

Farmers Drawn.

Arthur Leroy Small, Albert Burgois, Lloyd Leo Paris, Alexander H. Ashbridge and David Trygg were members of prominent Bismarck families drawn yesterday.

One of the early names drawn yesterday was that of Lester Allen, son of G. B. Allen of the International Harvester Co. The young man went into the Canadian northwest in the employ of the company, and there he attained his majority. When the draft call was issued, he asked advice of the nearest consul as to his status. No satisfactory information was forthcoming, and finally young Allen decided to establish his position as an American citizen by registering. Whether he is really eligible to serve is a question which probably will now come up for determination.

Two Chinamen.

Grand Forks and Stutsman counties share the honor of having registered two Chinamen drafted yesterday. Wong Hoy is a resident of Jamestown, and his lucky number was 350. Wong Poi, No. 1748, was Grand Forks' contribution.

One of Sioux county's drafted men is Peter Owns the Medicine, of Shields. Other Red Men selected in Sioux are Eneron Red Tomahawk, son of the slayer of Sitting Bull; William Elk and Teddy Crow Ben Cloud of Bismarck, a veteran trooper of Indian blood, was also drawn

Many Germans.

A notable feature in the slope is the number of names of German extraction drawn In some localities practically every number drafted to date is owned by a descendant of German parents.

Was Busy Place.

While the adjutant general's office had little to do in connection with the actual draft, it was a very busy

Names of Men Conscripted Under Selective Draft Law

Editor's Note—Where record is available, the Tribune has tried to publish names. But lists are not available in all counties. This need not interfere with the registrants knowing whether they are drafted. Just scan down the serial numbers and if your number is there you have been drafted, as these numbers apply to every county in the state.

The Tribune publishes here names not appearing in its regular edition of yesterday, together with numbers received last eevning too late for publication, and also the numbers received last evening too late for publname refer to the serial numbers published in an adjoining column. All numbers received are republished complete today for the benefit of Tribune readers, who may desire to refer to them today.

16 HOURS FOR DRAFT

Twice 687,000 Men Drawn on Theory That One Half Will Be Exempted

DUTY OF SELECTION NOW UP TO VARIOUS STATES

General Crowder Blindfolded Draws Last Number From Glass

ORDER OF EXAMINATIONS.

Interest now centers in how the men will be called for examination. The Tribune so far has secured more than 500 names drawn for Burleigh county. The total number drawn for this county will go somewhere between 600 or 700 names.

Holders of these numbers will be summoned for physical examination in the order their names were drawn until 150, the probable net quota assigned to Burleigh county, are drawn.

The local exemption board consists of Dr. Stackhouse, county physician; Sheriff French and County Auditor Flaherty.

Washington, July 21.—With about ten million men listed in the order of their liability for service, the federal government today began its last task of preparations for organization of the selective army draft—the task of determining who among those listed shall be exempt.

The drawing to determine who shall be first liable for service ended early today after it had been in progress without interruption for more than 16 hours, and while the officials in charge rested from their long vigil others took up the tabulation of official figures for forwarding to local exemption boards over the country. Most of this work, it is hoped to complete before the day is over, so that the local authorities can be given their instructions early next week.

May Appear in 10 Days.

Within ten days the men who are subject to the president's order for mobilization of the war quota of 687,000 may be appearing before their boards for examination for the decision as to exemption. Twice 687,000 are to be summoned by the boards on the theory that two registrants must be examined for every soldier accepted, and the number each registration district must furnish has been carefully worked out.

The provost marshal general's office was greatly pleased over the outcome of the drawing, officials declaring an accomplishment scarcely less noteworthy than the successful registration carried out six weeks ago. Ten million men, they pointed out, have been assigned to places on the nation's muster role within the states in less than a day and apparently with only one minor error in the whole complicated process.

Single Error.

The single error came to light near the end of the drafting this morning, when a blank was found where there should have been a number, in one of the 10,500 capsules by which the war time fortunes of America's youth were determined. It did not materially interfere with the working out of the lottery, however, and all officials agreed that it could work no injustice to any registrant. It meant only a temporary complication, they said, and in no way impairs equality of the lottery

To Find Missing Number.

What serial number should have been in the place of the blank has not been determined today, but it will be found shortly by a careful rechecking of the list. Then it will be assigned to the only place open on the liability list—No. 10,500 at the very foot Because of its absence, there only are 10,499 places now, with holders of the serial numbers 3,217 in last place

Crowder Draws Last One.

General Crowder, the provost marshal general, replaced the blindfolded official at the bowl and himself drew out the last number Scarcely had the historic event thus reached its close than the news of the last drawing had been flashed over the country The telegraphic feat of transmitting the 10,500 numbers as rapidly as they were drawn was pronounced by officials today as among the most notable features of the whole process The Associated Press virtually cleared its wires of other matters and gave the right of way to the drawing, with the result that they were able to give to their readers promptly the numbers chosen in each local district

With the close of the drawing, the great bulk of the business of making the new army ready for service will pass on to the state and local authorities They now must post the numbers of the men first to be called from each district must summon them for examination and later on must take up the question of exemptions

It will be their duty in short to turn over to the federal government when the mobilization call comes in

A Performance That Proved

This is the story of one of the most gruelling tests to which an automobile was ever subjected.

Remember as you read it that the car was a Series 18 Studebaker taken from a dealer's stock, that there were no trained service-men at specially established "controls" to care for it, that the trip itself was not "factory planned," that it was just an ordinary tour.

No Special Preparations

On May 20th last, this Studebaker car left San Francisco as the pilot car for a caravan of advertising men going to the St. Louis convention.

No special preparations were made as far as the car was concerned. The trip was to be a long one—but nothing unusual was expected.

The first two days were pleasant and the roads were good.

Seas of 'Dobe Mud

The third day found the party at Lovelock, Nevada, in a pouring rain.

The harder it rained, the stickier and more tenacious became the 'dobe mud. In places the pools were hub deep. This mud was cement-like in its consistency—it took a pick and shovel to remove it from the wheels. Yet the Studebaker car pulled sturdily along and showed ample reserve power for conditions even more difficult. This lasted for three days until they reached Salt Lake City.

Over the Rockies in a Blizzard

Leaving Salt Lake City they started for Evanston, Wyoming, traveling the latter half of the distance through one of the hardest rainstorms imaginable—the road was washed out and the car had to find its own way over rocks and along ledges that seemed impassable.

Starting from Evanston for Fort Bridger they ran into a blizzard, which at lower levels turned into rain.

The road was a veritable canal.

At one point they only made nine miles in five hours (the picture above shows why).

More Rain and Mud

All the way through Colorado the rain continued—and kept up as the car struggled through the gumbo mud of Western Kansas.

Even between Topeka and Kansas City the roads were in awful condition.

Arrived in Perfect Running Condition

At Kansas City the clouds lifted, the sun shone and the rest of the run to St. Louis was made without incident.

Despite its all but unsurmountable difficulties the Studebaker car arrived in St. Louis only 2½ hours behind schedule in perfect running condition and having only changed one tire during the entire trip.

So well had it come through its terrible experience that the car was driven on to Detroit to the Studebaker factories without any overhauling whatsoever.

This performance is further proof of the remarkable durability of Studebaker cars—a durability that is due to one thing only—the mechanical perfection of this splendid automobile.

Any car that will come through a test like this in perfect running condition—any car that will perform as this one did is worth your serious consideration—you owe it to yourself to get a Studebaker demonstration before you buy any car.

There will be no change in Studebaker models this year, but the increased cost of materials and labor may force Studebaker to make an advance in prices at any time without notice.

SAFEGUARDING OF FOOD RESOURCES TO BE DISCUSSED HERE

State Branch of National Board of Conservation to Meet With Governor

Governor Frazier, Insurance Commissioner Olsness and State Fire Marshal Reade will meet with the state branch of the national board of conservation, headed by A. A. Comrie of Fargo, at the capitol Monday, to discuss protection of North Dakota food storage from incendiarism. Many plans have been suggested for the safeguarding of warehouse and food depots, and Fire Marshal Reade anticipates that a feasible program will be worked out Monday. Mr. Reade is just home from a tour of the northern part of the state, where a number of fires, believed to have been of incendiary origin, were investigated. At Ross one man was arrested, given a hearing and discharged. At Rugby and Cando suspicious blazes are receiving attention from the department.

AUTOMOBILE MAN HERE.

John Durnin, wholesale sales manager of the Twin City Car company, handling the Hudson super six, left for Fargo today after spending a short time looking over local affairs for his company. Mr. Durnin has been in the automobile game for 12 years, and he is optimistic as to this year's prospects. The demand for a car of the better class, he declares, has never been more general.

FRIENDLY SUIT MAY TEST STATE GRAIN GRADE LAW

Grand Forks Attorneys Suggest That Constitutionality of Act Be Established

A friendly suit may be instituted against the state to test the constitutionality of the new grain grading act, according to correspondence with O'Connor & Johnson of Grand Forks filed by Dr. E. F Ladd with the railway commission this morning

The Grand Forks attorneys advise Dr Ladd that their clients are not opposed to the law, but that inasmuch as doubts as to its constitutionality have been expressed, they do not feel like proceeding under the act until all doubts are set aside. They suggest to Dr. Ladd that a friendly suit would settle all questions, and his opinion on the matter is asked.

In his reply, Dr Ladd declines to discuss the question of constitutionality, declaring this a matter for the railway commission, rather than he, to determine He advises that he understands various features of the act are to be passed upon at an early date, and that in the meantime he is proceeding with the organization of his department

Secretary Calderhead of the railway commission had no comment to make on the subject.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE WITH BIG TRI-STATE RECLAMATION SCHEME

Secretary of Commission Describes Work Which Has Been Done to Date

Excellent progress is being made by the North Dakota reclamation commission with its section of the tri-state drainage project, which is relied upon to reclaim from swamps hundreds of thousands of acres of valuable farm lands in southeastern North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, reports Herbert A. Hard, secretary and engineer of the commission, who is in Bismarck today.

Mr Hard has just returned from a survey of fine farming country in Richland county, which has not been tilled for three years, owing to flood The water has just subsided, and when Mr Hard was there farmers were plowing under acre after acre of thickly growing cattails, preparing the land for a late planting of flax The farmers in that territory estimate their loss during the last three years at several million dollars, and claims for that amount are made in a suit now pending against the state of Minnesota, which is charged with dumping its flood waters on South Dakota and North Dakota. The reclamation work may be delayed somewhat pending a decision in this suit. Any damages procured by the Twin Dakotas will go, however, direct to the farmers who suffered the loss claimed.

The preliminary estimates for this great project will cost $25,000 to $30,000, while the engineering work required to complete the contract will run into hundreds of thousands. A large dam at White Rock, S D, another across Lake Traverse, and the straightening of Bois de Sioux are plans embraced in this scheme.

The Egyptian Scale.

The seven great lamps of the Egyptian scale represented among the temple priests the planets of Sun, Moon, Mercury, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus. The scale mystically represented also the seven days of the week, the different keys indicated the gods and goddesses of the old time. The veil of the old Egypt says one writer, has never been lifted. Nor can the modern mind follow through all its mazes that system of music, philosophy, religion, astrology, astronomy and pantheism of which one of the notable expressions was the music drawn from the harps and lyres From these mystical sources have descended to us the modern orchestra, the stringed choir, the violins, cellos, basses, violas. The most direct example the harp—is no more now than a mere adjunct.

Tilted Block of Earth's Crust.

El Salvador is the smallest of the American republics its population of 1,700,000 is closely packed in its 7,275 square miles. It rests is a tilted block of the earth's crust Now and then the crust settles down a little, or rises a little more, and things crash Or the earth may split open at different localities, gulp down houses and human beings and close again When ever this happens the slumbering volcanoes are prodded and in their anger vomit forth fire And it may be only a slight shift of some part of the earth which releases a huge volume of water imprisoned in the seething crater of a dead volcano. The water splashes down on the liquid lava far down inside the earth and the volcano begins sputtering.

LETTING GEORG DO IT.

If cablegrams are to be relied upon, it ought to be easy for Georg Michaelis to slide into his job as German chancellor. All that the reichstag is going to ask him to pledge himself to is this:

Peace without annexations and indemnities; freedom of the seas; no economic blockade after the war; no carrying of the hatred of war into peace.

All of these things have got beyond Germany's control, as Georg knows, if he is at all posted, and agreeing to them is about like merely agreeing to draw his pay.

The German people may seriously desire peace. Their terms will have to be something much less than restoration of the ante-bellum conditions.

"Let Georg do it," said Hollweg. Will he, though?

SOUNDS FOREIGN LIKE.

"Today weary mothers carrying babies, with older children trudging along in the dust, lined almost every road out of town. They were going to join their husbands, who were driven out yesterday and the day before, but many of them did not know just where to go. Trains were boarded at every town in the district by entire families of refugees, each adult carrying a bundle wrapped in a sheet, a pack of bedding or an old valise. Many refugees destitute of the necessities of life are camped in the woods."

The foregoing reads like a report from Armenia, or Galicia, or Rumania, but it isn't. It's from the lead producing regions of Missouri, U. S. A. There's an "industrial disturbance" over there.

Peace hath its horrors not less than war.

Ludendorff to become Germany's military dictator? Another pseudonym for the kaiser.

DID CROWN PRINCE WIN?

A haze surrounds Germany. The censorship bars real news. But a few highly significant facts seem well authenticated.

There was undoubtedly a move by the Catholic centrist party and the socialists to force a program of peace without annexations and without indemnities. There was also a well-nigh unanimous demand for universal manhood suffrage in highly gerrymandered Prussia. There were probably threats that the otherwise dominant reichstag block would refuse war credits.

The kaiser came to Berlin in hot haste. He summoned Hindenburg, the popular idol, and Ludendorff, the brains of the military autocracy, then, as the demands would affect Germany for all time, the crown prince.

The military machine does not want reform and it very much desires peace, accompanied by annexations and huge indemnities. The landed Prussian aristocracy agrees.

And the crown prince is their principal spokesman. As heir to the throne, he opposed his father's apparent unwillingness to yield. He lined up with the reactionaries and demanded the head of Chancellor Bethman-Hollweg. He won all along the line.

The chancellor was dismissed and a comparative nonentity was named, who can be depended upon to be a mere figurehead. Reform goes by the board. Germany proclaims its purpose to fight on for a victory the Allies will have to pay for, both with lands and money.

This should stiffen their iron determination to push this war through to the crushing of the German ruling class. The present kaiser, evil in influence, besotted with the divine right mania, is at least a man of brains and ability. The crown prince seems to have neither.

He seems for years to have set himself in opposition to his imperial father—as all Hohenzollern heirs do. He glorified in the wretched Zabern affair, where the military cruelly set upon the civilian population of that Alsatian town. He applauded attacks upon Bethmann-Hollweg. He has made himself part and parcel of the gilded military caste.

Hundreds of thousands of German soldiers have been sacrificed to his vain desire to appear in history as the conqueror of Verdun. If he is in the ascendant now, it means a fop and a fool has practically taken precedence over a father with brains. It means a graver [illegible] to the Allies, now and hereafter. It means this war must not end until Germany is beaten to her knees.

If the senate finishes anything within a month of the time it ought to be finished, the nation may consider itself lucky.

One disadvantage of the newly invented airplane that goes straight up may be that when it falls it will fall straight down.

Chuyetsu Steamship company declares a dividend of 2,000 per cent. Gents in on the ground floor paid $2.50 per share. How perfectly heathenish!

Maybe Wilhelm has got to the point where he can't fool all the German people all the time. When any fellow reaches this point, his job sure becomes a ticklish one.

Saturday Evening Letter

By Justice J. E. Robinson

> Full many a gem of purest ray serene,
> The dark, unfathomed caves of oceans bear,
> Full many a flower is born to bud unseen,
> And waste its sweetness on the desert air.'
> —Gray.

I regret the editors of some big dailies do not like me and do not care to aid the cause of judicial reform by publishing my weekly letters. I think it is the first time that ever a supreme court judge has undertaken to give the press and the people weekly letters in regard to the public service. On such matters the people have been kept in utter darkness, and, of course, they have had poor service, and so it must ever be until the press and the people show some special interest in public affairs and in the doings of their public servants. Without any supervision or control, accounting or reporting, it is folly to look for good service; of course, a letter must not be a mere report. It must be readable, or it will not be read.

This week we charged one judge with an absence of two full days and now hope that he will make up for a month of lost time.

As we read some few weeks ago the United States supreme court adjourned for three months with 530 cases undecided. Of course that is not good business and it is a fearful moral wrong. It is an unpardonable sin. When judges quit their work and steal the time for which they are well paid they put themselves on a level with other stealers. Time is money. To steal time for which a judge is paid a good bunch of money is in effect the same as stealing the money, and the judge who does it cannot be regarded as a truly honest man. He should be impeached and removed from office. There is no sense or reason for the judges of any supreme court being one, two or three years, or even six months or three months, behind with their work. If the judges are not competent to do the work and to decide every case within three months, they should have manhood and decency enough to resign and quit their jobs.

In all supreme courts there are what are known as the laws delays. These are due mainly to the lack of business methods, the writing of long-winded decisions and the toleration of frivolous appeals and motions. In our supreme court the writing of long-winded decisions is a grievous cause of delay. With a mass of impending business a judge sits down and passes a week in writing a decision of two dozen or more pages on some small, kindergarten matter. He quotes pleadings and documents and quotations from other decisions all around the country. He discusses points and matters in no way necessary to a correct and lucid decision of the case. Such a decision is never published in the newspapers and it is never read, unless by a few attorneys who have not much to do. It never convinces the defeated party and the other party needs no convincing. Hence, it serves no useful purposes. You remember the suit to oust the state board of regents. Within three days after it was argued my short decision of three pages was written and given to the press. As it was brief, and was based on the constitution and pure reason, it was published on the front pages of some newspapers and it was read; but the long, laborious decisions have not been read. They are buried neath the bosom of the deep.

In the constitution it is written that when a judgment is reversed or affirmed by the supreme court, every point fairly arising on the record of the case must be considered and decided. Hence, some judges spin out their decisions by noting and discussing every point noted by counsel, even though it be in no way material. They argue as the lawyer giving 10 reasons for the absence of a witness, the first reason being that he is dead. Of course, one such reason is quite sufficient; and so in any lawsuit when one, two or three points are conclusive, it is sheer folly to discuss the other points.

In State vs. O'Hare, 1 N. D., the judge wrote a decision or commentary of 22 pages, when it should not have exceeded two pages—and there are thousands of similar cases in the reports. A judgment of conviction was reversed because in charging the jury the court stated the facts and argued the case against the defendant. That was a dead conclusive point and the judge should not have spun out his decision and wasted his time by noting and discussing nine immaterial points.

If a judge wants to write a mere commentary on the law, he should do it at his own expense and not at the expense of the suitors and the public. To publish and book supreme court decisions does cost the public or someone about $20 a page. The cost is often more than the amount involved in the litigation. This, the judges never consider. They touch not the burden with one of their fingers. It is a public affair in which there is no business economy. By actual count of words it appears that the average length of our supreme court decisions have been much greater than those of any other state. They contain too much stuffing; and that is a sorry complimnet.

In early days our judges wrote mammoth sentences, covering whole pages. They threw together a mass of words, regardless of rules of grammar, composition or punctuation. It may be of interest to our grammar class to note a few short sentences from the decision in the first North Dakota reports:

> The judgment in this case must be reversed because the district court had lost jurisdiction of the case at the time the judgment was rendered.
> R. The judgment must be reversed because, when it was rendered, the district court had lost jurisdiction of the case.
> The action was pending in the district court at the time of the admission of the state into the union.
> R. At the time of the admission of the state into the union, the action was pending in the district court.
> The power of the state court is destroyed and the jurisdiction of the federal court attaches at once.
> R. The power of the state court is divested and jurisdiction at once vested in the federal court. When a request for a transfer is made the federal court instantly becomes the perfect successor of the territorial court, by mere force of the statute.
> R. When a request for a transfer is made, by mere force of the statute, the federal court instantly becomes the perfect successor of the territorial court.
> The title of the federal court is inchoate before request, but when a request is made, its title at that moment becomes complete.
> R. Before request the title of the federal court is inchoate, but when a request is made its title is complete.
> The request is in itself the death of the old jurisdiction and the birth of the new.
> R. The request is in itself the end of the old jurisdiction and the beginning of the new. (Jurisdiction has neither death or birth.)

Here is a good specimen of a bungling sentence:

> We will conclude this opinion by saying that it behooves this court in deciding the first criminal case ever brought to it for review, and that a case of homicide, not to allow a prejudicial charge upon the facts, such as we conceive that in this case to have been, to pass unchallenged and thereby to become a precedent. (1 N. D., 551.)
> R. It behooves this court, in deciding its first criminal case, to allow no prejudicial charge upon the facts to pass unchallenged and to become a precedent.

You must not load down a sentence like a beast of burden. You must not put two or three sentences or clauses between the subject and the predicate. You must see that the verb agrees with its subject in number and person and that prepositions govern the objective case. You must not say between he and I or between him and I, for between him and me. No sentence is well composed unless it is smooth, easily spoken and easily remembered.

Tracks Extended — Through the courtesy of State Architect Sam Crabbe, the new street car tracks will be extended to the north sidewalk line of Thayer street, making a good crossing for Thayer and Fourth, instead of stopping with a hump in the middle of the block on Fourth, as originally contemplated. Mr Crabbe found this morning the state would have sufficient new rails and ties to make the extension. He proposed to City Engineer Atkinson that the state would furnish the material if the city would do the excavating, and Mr Atkinson immediately began rustling the necessary labor.

Queer Fire—State Architect Sam Crabbe stepped from Northern Pacific train No. 1 last night to behold a pile of the state's hard-bought creosoted ties merrily blazing down Fourth street At the same moment with a clamor of gongs two fire trucks hove into view. The blaze was kindled when a red lantern guarding a pile of ties in front of the Grand Pacific was toppled over by a strong wind about 11:30. The ties, thoroughly impregnated with creosote, burned freely, and the pile would have been completely destroyed but for prompt work from the firemen.

Former Commissioner—Gus Johnson, pioneer Burleigh county farmer and former county commissioner, is in the city today from his home near Painted Woods to attend the circus.

DRAFT PLAYS QUEER PRANKS IN THE STATE

place yesterday. Everyone has a number to look up for himself or his friends, and the comparatively few county lists which had been filed with the adjutant general, in response to an eleventh-hour request, were much in demand.

Joke Came True.

All yesterday forenoon practical jokers at the capitol enjoyed themselves at the expense of Jimmy J. Kelley of Jamestown, employe of the secretary of state's office. Someone discovered that 31 was Jimmy's number, and thereafter "31" was drawn about every five minutes. At last, about 2:30, "31" did show up, and the jokers had a hard time convincing themselves that Washington had not joined in the hoax. Kelley is young, athletic and single, and declares he's ready to race the Dutchmen any distance up to a mile 300 Men to Be Drawn.

Burleigh county's net quota for the draft, after credits are given for the men now in federal service at Fort Lincoln with Co A, probably will not exceed 150 men As numbers were drawn yesterday at Washington, they were written on a blackboard and photographed. Copies of these photographed numbers will be dispatched as soon as possible to Adjutant General Fraser, who will forward them to the county exemption boards in each of the 53 counties The county boards will then send out notices, beginning with the number first drawn and continuing until they have notified twice the number of men required to fill the quota In the case of Burleigh county, this will mean that the first 300 men whose numbers were drawn yesterday will be notified, probably within the next week, one-third to report in five days, one-third in six days and one-third in seven days. Those who fail to appear within ten days will be regarded as drafted, and unless they report within a certain time thereafter will be held as deserters

SPEND YOUR VACATION WITH UNCLE SAM

"California and West Coast people have always taken full advantage of Uncle Sam's invitation to spend their vacations in the National Forests," says L. J. Oliver vice president and director of sales of the Studebaker corporation, "but I have noticed that during the last year or two, people from all parts of the United States are beginning to realize what wonderful vacation lands are offered to the motorist by the United States national forests, and these forests are not all segregated in the western part of our country We find them in New England, in the South and Central Atlantic States in Oklahoma and Arkansas, in Michigan, Wisconsin and in Minnesota They occupy principally the more rugged and heavily timbered regions of the White Mountains, the Appalachians, the Ozark of the East and of course, the Rocky mountains Sierra Nevada and Coast ranges of the West

"There are one hundred and fifty-two national forests in the United States, and they offer not only splendid opportunities for the camper and fisher, but they also delight the eye with some of the most superb and majestic scenery in the world The seeker after health rest an drecreation can do well to turn his attention to the national forests in our country as a summer vacation land unsurpassed

"The forests, of course, are free to all Visitors are not only welcome to camp and motor where they will, but Uncle Sam issues in official form, under date of April 1917, a most cordial invitation to the 1,000,000 motor car users of the United States to visit him in his wonderful forests.

TAILORMADE FOR MOURNING WEAR

By BETTY BROWN.

New York, July 20—A firm which specializes on garments for mourning wear continues to use black faille as the conventional material While trimming of any kind is considered out of place on a mourning garment, the huge sleeves and extra broad collar are telling points of style in a very handsome coat suit

Although many fall suits have the "tuyau," tube, or straight up-and down line, those designed for mourning wear retain the belt and full skirt which can never be considered too striking or freakish

Why Envy Her? You Can Have Good Hair By Using Cuticura.

Aptitude.

My observation in life leads me to believe that nearly every human being has an aptitude; that is, there is something that he or she can do better than all other things. One in a hundred, again, has a remarkable aptitude, and in one in a thousand this aptitude is developed into something extraordinary. It then amounts to natural insight and constitutes genius. Now, a perfect system of education, if it could be devised, would be one which, while developing to the fullest extent all the faculties, would allow free play to the special aptitude. But this is just what our American school system fails to do, and does not aim at.—Autobiography of Charles Francis Adams.

SIDEWALKS AND COLD GERMS

Relationship Between the Two Traced to Conditions Which Result in Getting Feet Wet.

That a close relationship exists between sidewalks and grip epidemics is asserted in Good Health by Martin Nevins. Grip and colds, says Mr. Nevins, are germ diseases. Germs are floating about us in the air. We breathe them in by the thousands. "But they are cowardly fellows—once they get inside of a healthy body they retreat." He goes on:

"It is only when one thing or another disturbs our health equilibrium that the 'bugs' manage to gain a foothold in our system. It may be injudicious eating, it may be lack of fresh air, but most frequently it is some kind of exposure—getting the feet wet—that lays the fortress open to them.

"It is not at all hard to get your feet wet. And that is where the sidewalk comes in. The ordinary sidewalk is a right-hand assistant when you want a cold foot bath. It is built flat, without any slope to drain it.

The condition is aggravated if there occurs a natural depression in the sidewalk. The water runs into it and stands until it is dried or is frozen. The natural result is a harvest of grip epidemics, and any number of colds, bronchitis and lung troubles. And tuberculosis, too—this disease can often be traced to sidewalks, since it usually starts with some simple lung affection.

"We must stop building flat sidewalks and make them convex instead, so they will drain easily, and elevate them slightly above the level of the ground."

EFFECT OF MIND-WANDERING

Day-Dreaming With a Purpose Is All Right but Much Time Is Lost in Kind That Serves No Purpose.

Have you ever stopped to think how much time is lost in mind-wandering?

How many times during the day do you let your thoughts wander from the main task at hand? And once a person's thoughts start wandering, how they skip from one link of recollections to another until a chain of wasted moments is forged!

Mind-wandering seems to be a general characteristic of the human race, but those who have succeeded in conquering the characteristic and concentrating upon the task at hand have been the men who have moved ahead in the business and professional world.

Day-dreaming is all right when the dreams are busy with plans for promoting business methods or with ideas for practical inventions—and when other work is not being neglected.

The inventor of the steam engine, watching the steam in a kettle lifting the top of the pot and day-dreaming about what that power might be made to accomplish—was not wasting his time, but was advancing the human race.

Useful day-dreaming is all right, but mind-wandering should be relegated to the scrap heap.—Arkansas Democrat.

Well, Maybe So.

A fiction writer is the hero of this story:

Last summer he was going through a particularly dangerous stretch of road in the mountain fastnesses of Kentucky A cow, dazzled by the head light, failed to get out of the road and the car smashed into her, putting the lighting apparatus out of commission

"There were many lightning bugs flying around," he said, "and so I set the members of my party to work catching them. We used bottles that we had in our lunch boxes, and filled two full of the bugs. They gave out a glow that could be seen probably 300 feet ahead. We tied the bottles well corked, on to the front of the car and then proceeded into the village safely. I rarely tell of the experience, because few will believe it, but it is a fact."

HALLIDAY HERE TO GIVE CHAMPS THEIR REVENCE

Good Games Scheduled for This Evening and Sunday Afternoon on Home Field

The fast Halliday team, the only aggregation in the slope which has succeeded in drubbing the Champs in two successive games, arrived on No. 8 this afternoon to give Bismarck a chance to avenge its defeats in the disastrous double-header recently staged at Halliday. The first game will be staged at 6:30 this evening, and the second at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

These two contests should be the best of the season. Halliday has especially strengthened its already stellar line-up for those battles, and the Bismarck team has improved mightily since it was humbled by Halliday. Both games will be for blood. Halliday comes with scores of fans from every branch line town, anxious to see their favorite repeat the bitter dose recently administered Bismarck.

In Gardner, who will perform here, Halliday has one of the classiest pitchers in the northwest. Farmer, who will pitch one of the games for Halliday, is an old timer with lots of speeds and something in his head as well as on the ball.

Goldie will perform for Bismarck That statement need not be elaborated on. Goldrich always can be depended upon. Jimmie Grant, a southpaw from the Des Moines team of the Western league, landed by Capt. Elder this week, will make his initial bow in one of these games. He is a youngster with a fast delivery, an elusive curve and a good knowledge of the game.

Joe Collins, last season's speedy centerfielder, and Morgan, third sacker, arrived on No. 3 today from La Crosse, Wis., which team has been dropped from the Central association, releasing these stars. They have been playing ball every day this season and are in fine trim.

Banner crowds of the season are expected tonight and tomorrow afternoon. The next big offering for local fans is New Rockford, which comes for a three-game series beginning next Friday. New Rockford is made up of former Warren and Winnipeg players from the Northern league, which has closed for the season.

New Rockford did not get Bismarck's capitol. It now comes seeking the Capital City's baseball scalp. Manager Elder says the State Centerites are doomed to disappointment. Bismarck has two or three thousand fans who feel the same way about it, and who may be expected to turn out next week to see New Rockford get its needings.

After New Rockford come Minot and Williston, in a schedule which promises more good baseball than Bismarck has enjoyed in many years.

Ehmke, Brilliant Pitcher for Seven Frames, Can't Go the Whole Route

By PAUL PURMAN.

An astute baseball manager once made a pertinent statement.

"Ball games," he declared, "are not played with last year's average and must be won with what you have on ard Ehmke, Detroit pitcher.

All of which calls to mind one Howard Ehmke, Detroit pitcher.

Ehmke, in the early days of the spring, when prophecy counted more than figures and when last year's figures were all there was to go on, looked like one of the veriest rosebuds of the season, a player who had it in him to win some 20 or 25 games and pull the Tigers out of the hole poor pitching had put them in since the palmy days of George Mullin and Wild Bill Donovan.

This Ehmke figured as an iron man, a pitcher with bewildering speed, a wizardly assortment of curves and a change of pace which kept the batters off their balance. Hughie Jennings counted on him to fill the hole in the Detroit outfit which games were sifting through, preventing Hughie from floating a pennant over Navin park.

Let us see how Ehmke panned out. The last records show Ehmke has lost eight and won seven games, with an earned run average of three per game.

But what the records don't show is that Ehmke has lost the great majority of his games in the last two or three innings, indicating that he is a seven-inning pitcher.

Box scores show that Ehmke has allowed but 1.60 runs in the first seven innings of the games he has pitched and has permitted nine runs per nine inning game on the basis of his last two innings.

Detroit critics are divided on the cause of Ehmke's failure to do better.

His friends are inclined to be easy on him and say his failure to produce is due to over-confidence.

Others, not so kindly inclined, say he is lazy.

Perhaps it is a combination of the two.

Ehmke is not the type who should tire at the end of seven innings. He is tall and slender, with the muscle tissue which is built for endurance. He was regarded as a sort of an iron man and his poor performances probably are due to a mental rather than a physical condition.

The main trouble with Ehmke may be that he is too young to take himself and baseball seriously. That has caused the downfall of many promising stars.

SLING TENNIS POPULAR GAME AT THE FRONT

It has gained great popularity in European camps and behind the lines, where it is impossible to secure properly leveled court surfaces on which to play regular tennis.

The court is regulation size and is marked the same as regulation courts. Either a soft ball, without resiliency or a bag filled with pebbles or beans is used.

Regular racquet frames are used strung with cord forming a pocket inside, somewhat resembling a lacrosse club.

The ball is tossed out of the racquet with a swinging motion, the object being to keep it off the ground. If the ball is dropped it counts a fault against the player or side dropping it, the counting being the same as in tennis.

The game is said to have become very popular among tennis players barred from their regular sport by local conditions.

STATE CAPITOL NOTES

WIRE MAN HERE—

D. M. Parks of Fargo, district commercial manager for the Western Union Telegraph company, is in the city, looking over the private wire which has been installed in the adjutant general's office.

TO BUILD ELEVATOR—

C. N. Hoover, 30 years prominent in Dawson's agricultural progress, was at the state house yesterday, consulting with the railway commission relative to a new farmers' elevator, for which a contract has been awarded. "We're getting nice treatment from the Northern Pacific," said Mr. Hoover, "and I don't want the impression to go out that we have any complaint to make. There are just some little matters in connection with the site and the business in general upon which we wish expert advice."

HAS BURMA BEANS—

A vial of the famous Burma beans which are causing so much comment in the northwest is now on exhibition at the state historical museum. These beans came from Manchuria and were collected and presented to Curator M. R. Gilmore by George Will of the Will Seed company. It is very easy to understand how these beans, when mixed with the harmless navy, may be overlooked, for they are very similar in size and shape, and the chief distinguishing feature is a slight "craying" such as may be seen on a lima bean.

Maybe Both Are Right.

The unsuccessful man is always sure his poverty is the result of bad luck. The successful man is equally certain that his own success was due to his business judgment.

SPORT GOSSIP

St. Louis, Mo., July 20—Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Nationals, wants to sign Olaf Hendriksen, former outfielder with the Boston Americans, but declines to pay the veteran a bonus for coming to terms.

"Hendricksen is merely a good hitter," Rickey said. "He is not a good fielder or base runner. Boston made him a free agent, and yet he wants a bonus. He's not worth that to me."

Pinch hitting is the job Hendricksen will fill if he comes to the Cardinals.

St. Louis, Mo., July 20—The remarkable pitching of Allen Sothoron of the St. Louis Americans probably will earn him a substantial salary increase for 1917. As this is his first year in the majors, Sothoron is receiving a very "modest" salary. He came to St. Louis from the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league last spring.

Detroit, Mich., July 20—Another Detroit mascot has come and has departed. When the local American league club started its great Eastern drive the first of June, considerable credit for the fine showing was given to a dusky bat-boy from the Southland. His name was Alex Rivers and his home was New Orleans.

Rivers made the Eastern trip and returned to Detroit with the club. Then the Tigers wavered—Cobb's hitting streak was broken—and bad luck came.

Adverse conditions continued, so one day Mr. Rivers was deported. Since then, the Tigers have won and lost spasmodically.

Fort Dodge, Ia., July 21.—Eight hits for 17 bases in eight times at bat in one day was the performance of Outfielder Martini of the Charles City club of the Central association in a recent double-header with Fort Dodge. In the morning contest he produced three singles in as many times up, and in the afternoon he smashed out three home runs and two singles in five times at bat.

GOVERNOR FRAZIER ISSUES COMMISSIONS TO SECOND REGIMENT

New commissions issued in the Second regiment by Governor Frazier are to Charles L. Rouse of Noonan, to be captain; Robert A. Sprague of Beach, to be first lieutenant. Captain Rouse, who had six years' military training at Shattuck, probably will command Co. C of Crosby, but he has not yet been assigned. The Beach men will officer their home company in the Second.

DRAFTED MEN MAY ENLIST IN GUARD

Capt. A. B. Welch Receiving Enlistments for Co. I—No Orders to Contrary

"Drafted men will continue to be enlisted until we receive orders to the contrary," said Capt. A. B. Welch of Co. I today, in response to a question as to the status of drafted men who may now desire to join the guard. "There is nothing to indicate that the war department is opposed to voluntary enlistment in home organizations on the part of drafted men," said Captain Welch. "I have taken the matter up with Adjutant General Fraser, and he has received no instructions which would prevent our accepting these enlistments. We are receiving many applications, and we will file them subject to approval from the war department."

To Consider Exemptions.

"Exemptions," said Captain Welch, "will receive the same consideration on the part of men enlisting for service with their home troops as it will with those who wait to be assigned, perhaps to organizations largely made up by men whom they do not know. I cannot say how long the war department will permit to continue the enlistment of drafted men, and I would urge the boys who want to get into their home company to act promptly."

VOTE IN FIRST WILL BE CANVASSED AUGUST 10 BY STATE BOARD

Secretary of State Hall of Opinion That Usual Provisions Will Apply

August 10, in Secretary of State Hall's opinion, is the date upon which the vote in the recent special congressional election must be canvassed. Mr. Hall believes the regular election laws will apply in this instance. They provide that the returns shall be canvassed by the county auditing boards and reported to the secretary of state not later than 20 days following the election, and that the state canvassing board shall meet and officially certify the results of the election not more than 10 days after the returns reach the capital. The canvassing board will consist of the chairmen of the two principal parties—William Lemke of Fargo for the republicans, and W. E. Byerly of Williston for the democrats—N. C. Macdonald, superintendent of public instruction; J. H. Newton, clerk of the supreme court; and the secretary of state. Until the board meets and officially files its certificate with Washington Representative John M. Baer remains, so far as legal prerogatives go, a private citizen.

BARNES CIRCUS HERE TODAY; MATINEE CROWDS PLEASED; IS DIFFERENT FROM OTHERS

Depending entirely on educated animals to give the entertainment, the Al. G. Barnes big 4-ring wild animal circus at Bismarck today stands forth as the animal circus par excellence and distinctly different from all others.

With all the pomp and splendor of the big tops, with its acres of waterproof tents, parade glories, clowns, sawdust rings and general circus festivities, to which is added steel arenas, electric fans, electric lights and a program of the most unusual.

Martha Florine and Prancer, her tango horse, to be seen in Al. G. Barnes Wild Animal Circus today

In the center of the show's tents, a steel arena is erected, in which are presented the most amazing, thrilling wild animal acts ever witnessed. Men and women educators vie with one another for the plaudits of the people as they put the fiercest of jungle beasts through their paces.

Martha Florine offers a group of Persian leopards and jaguars; Mabel Stark presents the only perfectly educated Royal Bengal tigers. Dainty Cleo Webber dances in a den of African lions.

Clarence Crosby, under whose training bears of nearly every specie have been educated to perform in amazing features, is among the male members who draw the glad hand from the patrons. Stephen Hatty has the only group of performing zebras under his supervision. These stubborn animals have been educated to walk on their hind feet, roll barrels, jump through hoops and do a see-saw.

In the rings on either side of the arena, domestic animals are seen in comedy and unusual acts. Posing elephants, conceded by those who know, to be the best on exhibition. Kangaroos that might have given "Gunboat Smith" a few pointers in boxing. Goats that walk a tight-rope and ride galloping horses, monkeys and dogs are continually busy in the sawdust circles. Five hundred and fifty dancing and posing horses and ponies and mules that just can't be "rid" and besides, many beautiful spectacles, among which is Miss Earle and her musical pigeons.

There is a big two-mile long parade at 10:30 in the morning, doors opening at 1:00 p. m. and 7:00 p. m. Performances greatest animal pageant ever witnessed—"The Conquest of Nyanza."

WIRELESS MUST COME DOWN AND BE STOWED AWAY, ASSERTS FRASER

Adjutant General Declares Boys Disregarding Instructions May Be Called

"Our orders are that wireless apparatus, no matter whether operated by amateurs or professional radio men, must be dismantled, taken down and put out of commission. Merely disconnecting them is not sufficient," said Adjutant General Fraser, today, referring particularly to an excellent installation visible from the Capitol street railway. "While no serious penalties may be inflicted, boys who insist on keeping their apparatus suspended are letting themselves in for a severe reprimand," said Mr. Fraser.

The fact that government regulations require the complete dismantling of wireless equipment is not generally known. Many installations are still up in North Dakota, although presumably not in commission.

PREMIER LVOFF RESIGNS AMID STORMY SCENE

MILITARY GOVERNOR OF PETROGRAD IS CRITICISED

Petrograd, July 21.—The cabinet meeting leading to the announced resignation of Premier Lvoff sat until dawn yesterday and was somewhat stormy. Minister of war Kerensky criticized the minister and military authorities for not rising to recent events, and for not using their powers to suppress mutiny.

M. Kerensky was particularly severe toward M. Polovtzeff, governor of Petrograd military district, whom he had proposed to remove from the Petrograd command, but reconsidered his decision after the ministers had assumed the responsibility of changing the original orders of General Polovtzeff, which they considered were fraught with danger. It was made clear that General Polovtzeff's hands were tied. M. Tereschtenko will remain in office as foreign minister.

LEADER ARRESTED.

London, July 21.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Petrograd says it is rumored there that Lenine, leader of the extremists, and seven of his lieutenants have been arrested while trying to escape to Kronstadt.

ARREST THIRTY-SIX.

Petrograd, July 21.—A detachment of soldiers and sailors with machine guns have arrested 36 Maximilists (radical socialists) delegates to the Baltic fleet aboard the Russian destroyer Rophei, which was lying at a British quay.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK.

Dispatches say that a most intense artillery battle is raging on the Smoigon-Krevo front. Several hundred German heavy guns are said to be engaged. The Germans sought to advance, but were driven back by the Russian fire, a crack Siberian corps bearing the brunt of the fighting. It is said the Russian guns are obtaining the mastery of the situation.

LATE JAMES W. FOLEY VETERAN OF OLD REGIME

Game to Fort Lincoln With U. S. Troops in 1878—Had Been at Medora Since 1885

No advices have been received locally as to the date set for the funeral of the late James W. Foley, whose sudden death at his home in Medora was recorded yesterday. It is presumed, however, that the last rites will be held tomorrow. In the death of Mr. Foley North Dakota loses a typical frontiersman and a gallant soldier of the old regime.

James W. Foley was born in Maryland on June 18, 1845. As a young man he enlisted in the regular army, serving for a number of years at St. Louis, where the older children were born. In 1878 Mr. Foley was transferred from Jefferson barracks to old Fort Lincoln, where he remained until 1885, when he was called to Medora, to take an executive position with the newly organized De Mores Packing company. From that time on he was principal representative in this section of the Marquis de Mores, whose friendship for Mr. Foley endured until the death of the marquis, a number of years ago. The de Mores family, whose sons are serving under the fleur de lis in the present great war, retained its large landed interests surrounding Medora following the failure of the packing enterprise, and retained Mr. Foley as agent.

Mr. Foley's first wife died 27 years ago, shortly after the family took up its residence in Medora, and three years later he wedded Mrs. Gertrude Wood of Jamestown, who survives, with four sons and two daughters of the deceased, as follows: James W. Foley, former editor of the Bismarck Tribune, secretary of the railway commission and secretary to Governor Hanna during the first part of the latter's term, now making his home in California; R. K. Foley, cashier of the Interstate bank of Sentinel Butte; Edward W. Foley, a rancher at Townsend, Mont.; Mrs. W. T. Dennison of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Mary Todd of Billings, Mont.

CIRCUS DAY BRINGS HUNDREDS TO TOWN

Hundreds of people from all parts of the county and from many of the surrounding towns thronged Bismarck streets today to see the Al. G. Barnes circus, which arrived this morning.

The long parade left the circus grounds at 12:30 and covered the main streets of the city. The large number of magnificent wild animals was most noticeable, the Barnes circus being famed for that particular branch of the business. The first show started at 2:30 this afternoon and the big tent was packed, in spite of the fact that it is the hottest day of the summer.

Make Sacrifices and Save Lives

Under that slogan the most loyal of our people have by now pledged $5,250,000 of the ten million dollars which to save the lives of 3,000,000 Jews in the Eastern war zone. Half our time for raising the total has passed.

In charity extremes meet. Nathan Straus gives up his house and humble men earning $15 a week pledge 1-10 of their earnings to the fund!

Work continues unhampered despite the war, but meanwhile babies of our blood are dying like flies, fathers beg for crusts and mothers go mad. It is to America that they call for aid.

It is not right that the burden should be borne by a conscientious few. Will you not HELP?

STRAUS TO GIVE AWAY HIS HOME

$350,000 Residence to Be Sold for Benefit of the War-Sufferers.

"Sacrificing everything for war, even the roof over your head," declared Nathan Strauss yesterday.

True to his word, he is offering his $350,000 city home for sale. All the money it brings will be turned over for war relief purposes. He said yesterday:

"I have given all the money I can afford to give. I have taxed my fortune to the limit. But so long as I have property to give, I shall sacrifice that, too, to help my fellow-sufferers.

"The wealthy citizens of America have not been giving in proportion to their wealth. They have not been willing to make giving a sacrifice. It is a great reflection on the patriotism of the nation."

Last year Mr. Straus sold his $35,000 yacht to relieve Jewish distress in Palestine.

The house at No. 27 West Seventy-second street is the only city home Mr. Straus possesses. He and his family have taken up their residence permanently in their suburban home at Mamaronek.

Today the "For Sale" sign will be tacked to the beautiful English easement dwelling of brick and stone. In addition to the formal "For Sale or To Rent" legend, the sign will bear the following:

Proceeds to go to war sufferers."

Exquisite furnishings will go with the house. Only the most personal mementoes will be removed in case of sale. The dwelling, built in 1895, contains many quaint features, as it was built to order. There is a large rotunda in the centre of the basement, which is lighted indirectly from above. Another feature is the winding stairway in the centre of the building.

Independence Declared by Finnish Diet

Conflict With Russia Is Regarded As Inevitable Because of Action

PETROGRAD TOO BUSY TO REPRESS REVOLT

Helsingfors, July 21.—A conflict with Russia is regarded as inevitable because of the action of the Finnish diet in adopting the bill giving independence to Finland.

The socialist members of parliament assert, however, that Petrograd has its hands too full with its own troubles to attend to repression.

Announcement of the vote was received by prolonged cheering and cries of "Long Live Finland," and "End Russian Connection." The districts thereafter rejected, 104 to 87, a proposal by a member of the Young Finnish party, that the law as prescribed by the constitution be submitted for Russia's approval or veto. After the diet dispersed there was a patriotic demonstration in the street. Premier Tokoi expressed his satisfaction at the diet's coup d'etat, saying, "We may be sure of Finland's independence guaranteed for all time."

SUBMARINES GET MILLION TONS IN MONTHLY RAID

Washington, July 21.—Figures in the possession of the government based on the best information within reach of the Allies make it appear that since the beginning of the German ruthless submarine warfare the destruction of merchantmen, hitherto available to the Entente has been at least four times the tonnage built.

The figures show the losses averaging about 1,000,000 tons dead weight monthly, this including the weight of cargo, whereas the weekly statement from London are based on registered tonnage.
